Shark Conservation Fund Overview
The Shark Conservation Fund is a collaboration of philanthropists established in 2016 dedicated to restoring ocean health through sweeping shark and ray conservation. Its goals are to halt the overexploitation of the world’s sharks and rays, prevent extinctions, reverse population declines, and restore imperiled species through strategic and catalytic grantmaking. To achieve these goals, we focus on three main objectives:

- Fisheries management reforms that reduce mortality for species primarily threatened by trade.
- Prevent extinctions of threatened species that are not traded.
- Identify & protect important shark areas in new or modified marine protected areas.

The Shark Conservation Fund is a sponsored project of Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors.
